Wills and Trusts

While virtually every person understands the need for a will, the sad reality is that nearly 60% of Americans leave behind confusion and discord over their estate's assets. Without a will, there is no way for your voice to be heard, and your instructions and wishes may go unfulfilled. By creating a living trust, you can guarantee that your wishes and your loved ones will be taken care of. A living trust is revocable, which allows for you to make changes, and it can be routinely updated.

Estate Planning

From a financial perspective, retaining an attorney to help organize and manage your affairs is not only prudent, it can help save you thousands of dollars. Many estates are heavily taxed, and an experienced attorney that will help protect your assets is necessary to gain maximum tax benefit. Asbury Legal, LLC is here to help you deal with a variety of legal estate matters. This includes, but is not limited to, setting up trusts, naming successors to your business, and putting together a will that clearly outlines the division of your assets. We also formulate legally binding living wills that ensure your wishes are heard should you be unable to make your own choices regarding your future care.
